Peters succeeds Lorrin Andrews.

On Nov. 21st, Emil C. Peters, deputy attorney general, was commissioned as attorney general by Governor Carter. The resignation of Lorrin Andrews was accepted and the governor lost no time in making and announcing the new appointment.

Peters is a graduate of Stanford University and of the law college of the University of California, having taken the degree of Bachelor of Laws from the latter in 1900. He had practical experience in a San Francisco law office during college days and in 1899 came to Honolulu and entered the office of J. A. Magoon. Since then he has been a partner of Magoon, a member of the firm of Andrews, Peters and Andrade, and deputy attorney general.

The Unpromising Field.

Mr. Yipsley was just on the point of leaving his house for his place of business downtown when there came a ring at the front door bell. He opened the door. A canvasser stood outside.

"I beg your pardon," said the canvasser, "but I'd like to show you a sample of our improved talking machine."

"I think I don't care to see it," replied Mr. Yipsley.

"You are not interested in talking machines perhaps?" ventured the other.

"I can't say that, either; but I have one already. Talks all day long. Never needs winding up. Never runs down."

At this moment a high pitched voice from somebody at the top of the stairway broke into the conversation.

"It isn't so!" exclaimed the person with the high pitched voice. "It isn't so! But I've got a growling machine that runs whenever it's in the house."

Count Witte, who not only is the strongest man in Russia and one of the foremost statesmen in the world, but who throughout these many years of darkness and uncertainty has been the leading champion of liberalism within the governing circles of Russia.

So with a strong and trusted man in charge of the Government, to counteract the influence of the bureaucrats, and with an organization of force and adhesiveness at last among those who are striking for liberty, it is believed that the Russian people ought to win if they show the courage, patience, and good judgment which the crisis requires. This hopeful view of the future is expressed by the Washington Times which says:

"From the first attempt to exercise the new rights there will be appeal to prejudice, self-seeking, in trigues, and corruption heightened by all the devices of a rotten court. From the first only a very small proportion of the nation's new citizen-body can possibly know how to use the liberty which at last they have wrung from their sovereign. It will be impossible for many years fully to realize all the fruits of this marvelous revolution in practice."

"The great struggle of the Russians has, in fact, but begun. When peace is restored, or when new disorders plunge her cities again into violence and rapine, the factions that have yielded so much will very reasonably attempt to recover the ground they have lost. The ordinary difficulties of popular government that here in America weigh at times so heavily on the shoulders of all good citizens will in Muscovy weigh a hundred times heavier. But in the progress of the nations away from one-man rule toward the rule of all men equally leaders have never been lacking and the cause has never permanently lost ground. That this may be true of Russia is the hope of all the freemen of the world."

Boilers of the Grant in Bad Way.

SEATTLE, Nov. 11.—Persistent neglect, covering a long period of years, may be responsible for a repetition of the Bennington disaster in Puget Sound waters in the revenue cutter Grant, now lying in the harbor of Elliott Bay. On the authority of officers now serving aboard the craft it has been said that her boilers are worn out and almost in a condition beyond repair, beside being many years behind the times. The condition of the boilers on the Grant is such that she cannot carry much above a fifth of her scheduled 150 pounds' pressure of steam per square inch. As a matter of fact, for a long time the Grant has never run over thirty pounds, as this is the mark set by her officers beyond which would be peril. It is further said that if the Treasury Department could be examined they would disclose the shocking truth that more than one report has been forwarded, but nothing has been done.
